What a contrast is presented at this time between the democratic and republican parties! The democratic leaders who are spoken of, whatever their fitness or differences on public questions, stand before the country unassailable by the opposition as honorable men worthy of trust. From Maine to California Mr. Tilden bears the enviable reputation of being the ablest and most sincere reform Statesman now living. Every democrat admits his worth and only his physical condition and personal wishes prevent his unanimous nomination and his assured election. Gen. Hancock has been spoken of by some. No word has ever been uttered against his reputation by friend or foe. Senator Payne has warm advocates. Democrats and republicans concede his purity and ability. Judge Hooley has been suggested. He has just been strongly indorsed by the democrats of his own State and all over the Union his high character and capacity are conceded. Governor Cleveland has personal advocates. Is a word spoken against his integrity? Ex-Senator McDonald, ex-Speaker Randall, Bayard, Hewitt, Holman and others have been suggested for the democratic nomination and there is not among them a name which is not conceded to belong to a man of personal honor and honesty. How is it with the republicans? They are busily engaged in exposing the records and besmirching the characters of their own leading candidates for the nomination! Their proposed bloody shirt campaign has been changed to a Dirty Shirt campaign. They are washing their soiled linen in public before the eyes and under the offended noses of a disgusted people. Look at the portrait of President Arthur as painted by ex-Artillery General Wayne Mac Veagh, ex-Postmaster-General Thomas L. James, ex-Consul-General Adam Sedgwick and the Republican Times. Examine the certificates of character given to him by the Evening Post and Times and to Senator Edmunds by William Walter Phelps and the Republican Tribune. The effort of the republican party in its factional jealousy, its hatreds and its greed for spoils seems to be to prove that its most prominent men are venal and all its leading Presidential aspirants unworthy of public trust. Well, perhaps the party organs are right.—[N. Y. World.]

The Seventeen Year Locust.

This is "seventeen year locust" season in Virginia. According to the Practical Farmer considerable alarm is felt in some quarters at the announcement. It is a blessing to the country that these voracious fellows are by nature prevented from making a raid all over the country the same year. The history of this insect is curious and interesting. The eggs are deposited in small silts made by the female in the branches of trees. In a short time the eggs hatch, and the young larvae follow down the branches to the trunk, down this to the roots, along the roots to their tips, where they fasten themselves by their beak, through which they draw sustenance. They also attach themselves to other succulent roots. Here they remain for nearly their entire existence of almost seventeen years without other change than a gradual increase in size. They come nearer the surface as the period of transformation approaches. They make cylindrical holes some half an inch in diameter, which they carefully cement and varnish, so as to be impervious to water. In this they remain for several days. They finally issue from the ground, crawl up a tree or stump, take a rest and cast their skin. They come out in the evening, and by morning the insect is ready for flight. They seem to prefer the oak to other trees, but will take up with many others, having rather a liking for the apple tree. They usually appear in the latter part of May, and disappear in about six or seven weeks.

A Sheet Iron Hen.

An ingenious fellow in Ohio has constructed a sheet iron hen that promises to lay him a golden egg. It is finished up to life, full size, cackles, clucks and looks with one eye at a time so naturally that it will deceive the oldest hen hawk in the country. It is also arranged that when a hawk, mink or polecat pounces on it the back springs open and the wings fly up and force the assailant on to a ravenous buzz that makes 1,700 revolutions per minute. After moving half a minute the saw stops, the hen closes up, folds its wings and begins to cackle as though it had just laid an egg. One winding up will answer for three massacres, provided the rather delicate machinery doesn't get clogged up too much with blood, bones and feathers. He set a freshly painted one out in the sun to dry the other day, which attracted the attention of a fine old cat belonging to a doctor who had been poking a great deal of fun at the fool thing. The hen is there, but the cat is hence.

A golden rule for a young lady is to converse always with your female friends as if a gentleman were of the party, and with young men as if your female companions were present.

LATEST NEWS.

Minor Killed.

(Special to the Interior Journal.)
MT. VERNON, May 26.—Ed. Quinn was killed by falling slate in the mines at Livingston, to-day. J. B. F.

PITTSBURG, May 26.—The Penn Bank has again closed its doors. The second crash was brought about by the Clearing-house throwing out checks amounting to $265,000.

At 11 o'clock last night, deputy sheriff Johnson and Constable Ellerson delivered to the jailer here Jim Wilson and Jeff Wells, who had been held for robbing the store kept by Rev. John L. McMullins, at O. K. Proof seems to be against Wilson, in whose possession the missing goods were found.

Brown's Mistake.

Dwight Brown, living near Erie, Pa., is poor but very devout man. Mr. Brown being in destitute circumstances, knelt down with his wife and the two prayed for help from on high. On the following day as Mr. Brown was walking along the highway, he found a "wallet" containing $200 in greenbacks. Just ahead of him was John Crowell, whom the prisoner must have known had dropped it, but Brown, believing this to be an answer to the earnest supplications of himself and wife, took the money home and there was great rejoicing in the family, followed by full meals for his wife and children. The next day clothing for the half naked family was purchased, and Mr. and Mrs. Brown earnestly believed they had found the royal road to wealth. But a little later an officer came with a warrant and arrested the head of the household on a charge of larceny. At the trial a frank statement of the whole case was made by the lawyer who kindly offered to defend Brown. He recited the ignorance of the prisoner, which was accompanied with a devout belief that God had answered his prayers in the manner described. Some of the money had been spent as described, but the rest had been turned over to Crowell, and besides this, all the household effects of the poor man had been put in the hands of the officers to be sold to make up the deficiency. The Judge in passing sentence, said he understood the prisoner to be a hard-working man, and that the temptation had come to him in a peculiar manner. He would err, if at all on the side of justice, and so he sentenced Brown to pay a fine of one dollar and to be confined in jail one day. The case is a peculiar one, and excited a good deal of interest.

OBITUARY.

On Friday morning, May 24, 1884, of pneumonia, the spirit of Mrs. Patience Owens Boone took its flight for a better and purer world.

Miss Boone was born October 22, 1828, and married quite young to Mr. George G. Boone, who still survives her. She became a member of the Christian church early in life, was earnest in her profession, loving to visit the houses of God and engage in worship, often going there when hardly able to sit up, so poor was her health the greater part of her life.

In all the relations of life she was lovely in spirit and action. As a wife and mother she was ever genial, pure and true. In her death the orphan and stranger have lost a true friend. None ever went to her for aid without their appeal being responded to.

But her work is done—we trust well done. May her mantle not of sickness and sorrow fall upon her children; may they imitate her virtues. A genuine feeling of sympathy goes out to him whose companion she was for more than 40 years and who so keenly feels the irreparable loss. During her short illness the intensity of pain was unabated, but not a murmur escaped her lips—always grateful to her friends who ministered to her wants. All that medical science could suggest was brought to bear for her relief, but the Master called and she was taken to His home on high. To the stricken husband, son and daughter we offer our holiest sympathies and commit them to the Lord, whom she loved to serve, knowing that He alone can comfort and sustain them.

She is gone, we should not mourn.

Gone to wear a crown of gold—

Gone where there is always Summer,

Sheltered in the Saviour's fold.

THE SWEET HAND PAINTED BONNET.—The agony of agonies this season, which most attracts the attention of the ladies fair, is the hand painted bonnet. Hours of intense thought and quarts of the best paint are wasted in an endeavor to imitate the flower of the field or plumage of birds, with varying success. Once in a while a bonnet is painted that is "perfectly awfully lovely," and then again a bonnet is taken from the easel looking very much as if it had accidentally rolled across the fair artist's palette. We saw one the other day that resembled a pan of sour milk after a thunder storm, in delicate shading. It is largely a matter of artistic culture whether the bonnet be a success or not.

GARRARD COUNTY DEPARTMENT.

Lancaster.

—Mrs. Andrew Adams received a fall Friday by which she had her arm fractured. —Mrs. Charley Nield will deliver a temperance lecture at the Christian church Friday evening.

—The members of the Presbyterian congregation will give a sociable in the basement of their church Thursday evening. —A number of the K. C. R. R. official spent the day in town Monday, getting acquainted with their patrons. They took dinner with H. A. B. Marksbury.

—R. S. Haselden has concluded to build a two story brick store room where his old horse stands, near the Court House. Joe Haselden bought his brother's place in the North-western corner of Public Square for $3,500.

—The tobacco growers in this county are disappointed in not raising enough plants to set out the land broken up for that purpose. The seeds sown were inferior, in consequence of which a small number of plants came up.

—Monday was County Court day here. A small crowd was present and very little stock was on the market. Lightning rod and machine axes ruled the day. Mr. I. M. Dunn sold 30 head of cattle at from $24 to $25 per head. No mules were on the market.

—Geo. F. Burdett died at the home of Tom Moore, in this county, Friday, and was buried at Fork Church. He is the last of the old set of Burdett who have resided in this county for years. He died in his 76th year.

—Master Commissioner, H. C. Kauffman sold publicly, Monday, the Margaret Kennedy tract of land consisting of 180 acres of land near Dripping Springs, in this county, to Seph Conn at $290 per acre. On this land is an old salt well opened in 1797 which produces large quantities of "Crab Orchard Salt," and is the only one not under control of the C. O. Salt Co.

—We were pleased to see young Mr. Eddie Walton upon our streets Monday acting in the capacity of your agent. We wish him success. Miss Mollie Johnson and Snack Lee came up from Danville Saturday to spend the evening with the young ladies visiting at Judge Owensley. Miss Kate Brown, of London, Ky., has accepted a position as clerk in the Internal Revenue Collector's office at this place. Col. Landrum has now two young ladies on his staff.

—The North-eastern part of our suburb is composed almost entirely of negro cabins which have been designated "Logan Town." This has always been the rendezvous of negroes and loose characters whose names are very familiar to the police authorities, and every week a large number are tried for disorderly conduct. Last Saturday night a few drunken negroes got into a fuss on "Battle Row," and during the disturbance some one in the crowd fired four or five shots with a pistol, two shots of which took effect in Sam McKee's, col. leg and one in John McPherson's, col. forehead and one grazed another negro's leg. All were flesh wounds. It is thought that Zeke Reid did the shooting but none of the wounded will inform the authorities. Zeke skipped out and his whereabouts are not known.

Our State contemporaries will no doubt confer a favor on an unfortunate class by noting the fact that the branch institution for colored deaf mute children will be opened at this place next fall. Intelligent children between the ages of ten and thirty-one years will be received and furnished board and tuition by the State without any charge,—parents only being required to furnish clothing and traveling expenses, as in the case of white children. This colored branch will be under the supervision of the excellent Superintendent and Board of Commissioners who have so successfully managed the institution for white children in our midst. Of course in their education and training the two races will be kept forever separate. This is expressly provided by law, and in both letter and spirit, will be carried out by the management of the institution.—[Danville Advocate.]

—Manlius J. Smith, son of D. Howard Smith, formerly State Auditor, dropped dead at his home in Louisville.

Keep pushing 'tis wiser than sitting aside, And shining and watching and waiting the tide; In life's earnest battle they only prevail, Who daily march onward and never say fail.

The largest stock ever in Stanford and the best to be found in Central Kentucky, embracing about twenty five different styles from the leading manufacturers in the United States. Persons contemplating buying a vehicle this Spring should select the same or place their orders at once; for at this season all manufacturers of first-class vehicles are invariably over-run with orders and if the vehicle wanted is not on hand, it will require from four to eight weeks to obtain it; four weeks being required to make, finish and dry a first-class job ready for shipment, under the most favorable circumstances.

All work sold by me will be found to be such as I represent them, unless I have been deceived myself, and in that event the purchaser will be fully indemnified. Call and examine my stock and I will do my best to please you in style, quality and price. You can get as good vehicles from me and at as reasonable prices as you can obtain anywhere else and get a guarantee on them, besides that is worthless to you when buying away from home.
